

CALDOR IV

Caldor IV is an unofficial, narrative, team-based, campaign tournament for Games Workshop's Warhammer 40,000. Set on the long beleaguered world of Caldor IV, the campaign chronicles the quest for The Scythe Of Unbound Light, an ancient war machine of great might. It is comprised of three parts:

- The Debacle: Three rounds of standard battles to locate critical personnel and ancient weaponry before the planet is overrun.
- The Twilight: Four rounds of 200 point Recon Squad skirmishes amid the chaos of the all-consuming, inescapable war.
- The Cataclysm: A single epic battle encompassing all the players, throwing 500 point armies into the maelstrom of the planet's final hours as they madly fight to secure The Scythe.

The Debacle is playable as a straight tournament with some light team aspects over it. The Twilight and Cataclysm are more narrative, but still have a solid tournament basis. As such, Caldor IV provides the foundation of a great event for both competition and narrative oriented players. The campaign is designed to be played over two full days or several evenings.

The Twilight and The Cataclysm utilize two additional unofficial Warhammer 40,000 supplements:

- Recon Squad: Fast playing, simple rules for skirmish level play, in which models move and fight individually on heavily terrained boards.

rocketshipgames.com/games/recon-squad/

- Cataclysm: Rules, logistics, and mission scenarios for large games comprised of multiple players fighting as teams for multiple alliances.

rocketshipgames.com/games/cataclysm/

This document outlines mechanics and missions of the campaign. Additional tips are on the website:

rocketshipgames.com/games/caldor-iv/

CAMPAIGN SETUP AND OVERVIEW

To begin, the players are grouped into two or three alliances, determined by the organizer(s) based on the factions and number of players participating:

- Forces of Order: The Imperium and its allies;
- Legions of Discord: Chaos and heretics;
- Spoilers: Pirates and xenos of all stripes.

At the outset of the campaign the Legions of Discord have descended on Caldor IV en masse in search of The Scythe Of Unbound Light, an ancient war machine of storied power long since lost to time but still extant in legend and whispers. Believing The Scythe to be a myth after years of fruitless searching, the Forces of Order have given up on the planet and are about to abandon Caldor IV entirely, scorching everything and everyone left behind. First, however, the ranking figure on the world, the Mechanicum's Magos Ferdinand, must be retrieved. Amid all this and unaware of the deeper goals, the Spoilers have simply come for bloodshed and whatever they can plunder.

TREASURE IN THE DARKNESS

Caldor IV—once a luscious knight world, now a smoldering husk. Both The Dark Ages and The Heresy it outlasted, but the paranoia and isolation of those times set the kernels of future failure. Over the following eons the houses ossified and turned inward, gazing at all about them with mistrust, then fear, and eventually war. Centuries of infighting eventually slagged the verdant paradise into a charred wasteland. In recent centuries the Mechanicum has resettled the planet, though their motivations for doing so are unclear even as their efforts have increased in recent decades. Intrigued, the planet has since been the target of continual raids and exploratory incursions by the more intrepid and curious pirates, heretics, and xenos. Weary, stretched to the breaking point, the defense forces have finally all but collapsed after decades of unceasing combat. Sensing the weakness, foes of the Imperium have all piled in, lusting for blood or other, more secret, goals. Beseched by the Mechanicum, loyalists throughout the sector have poured in to match, deepening the ever swirling maelstrom of the planet-wide conflict. But time and resources have run out.

THE DEBACLE ON CALDOR IV

The Debacle on Caldor IV captures the last major thrusts at the conclusion of years of fighting over the planet. All manner of allies and foes have come together to fight for whatever spoils Caldor IV may yield.

GOALS

With new, credible information confirming its existence having been unearthed recently, the Legions of Discord have formed an uneasy alliance seeking The Scythe of Unbound Light, a war machine of incredible power believed to be still buried amid the planet's vast fields of rubble and dunes from its eons of strife.

The Forces of Order are simply trying to extricate themselves from a rapidly worsening quagmire. Originally the Mechanicum came to the planet in search of The Scythe, but by this point only fools believe it still exists or ever did. Magos Ferdinand, head of Mars' expedition, is such a fool and refused to evacuate until too late. Preparations are now underway to obliterate the planet, the situation having been deemed irrecoverable by sector governance. However, despite his foolish belief in ancient myths, the Magos' vast machine knowledge is too valuable to throw away easily. All effort necessary should be expended to retrieve him if at all possible before Exterminatus.

Sensing opportunity amid the massive conflict, The Spoilers have come simply to smash and grab whatever they can while Order and Discord are occupied in a death struggle. They would be happy to lay their claws on either The Scythe or Magos Ferdinand.

CONTINENTS

Caldor IV has three major continents over which the fighting has been concentrated:

- Apollon: Headquarters of the Mechanicum, its primary forges, and more mysterious sites...
- Hermea: Home to the bulk of the world's civilian population in several miserable hive cities.
- Juno: Unreclaimed wastelands from the darkest periods of the past, not a place to go lightly.

Discord scryers believe The Scythe is on Juno but will not stake their lives to it. The precise location is necessary to retrieve it anyway. Magos Ferdinand is assumed to be on Apollon, but his location has not been confirmed since the latest heavy fighting began.

THE DEBACLE ON CALDOR IV

Adept Kain's tentacled machine links withdrew slowly from the interface panels surrounding him. He had to cogitate, quietly, outside the noostream for a moment. Would this be his failure, or a brilliant recovery from failures made by those before him? Magos Ferdinand was a fool. This whole expedition had been a miscalculation from the start. From the poor research findings Kain had reviewed so far, he doubted their quarry had ever been more than a myth to begin with. And now the expedition's position had grown untenable, with incalculably valuable resources being thrown after a madman's quest. Slowly re-interfacing, he assented to the sector governor's request for exterminatus. Time to end this throne-cursed debacle.

TERRAIN

Each continent has a variety of areas represented by the various tables available: City, industrial, wasteland, and so on. There are no specific campaign terrain requirements but players are able to choose which boards they prefer to defend. Tables should therefore be set up in advance and have some distinct characteristics such as more or less open sight lines and different concentrations of terrain types.

MISSIONS

The Debacle on Caldor IV is played out over the course of three missions. All players contest the same mission in each round. Almost any missions can be used, but a tournament ready mission pack is included in this document following this section.

CAMPAIGN SETUP

Prepare two sets of three envelopes, one set for Order and the other for Discord, each labelled for one of the continents on Caldor IV: Apollon, Hermea, and Juno. These envelopes capture the alliances' search for The Scythe and the Magos over each continent.

Print and cut out the Search Results cards at the end of this section. Each card indicates the result of the alliance's searching over a campaign round.

Some offer nothing, others reveal the target's continent, and one yields their quarry's precise location.

As labelled on the cards, form two sets of four decks, one set each for Order and Discord. Shuffle each deck, keeping the cards facedown. Randomly select a deck for both Order and Discord from their respective sets and discard the others without revealing any cards. Still keeping the cards facedown, for each one randomly select a continent, e.g., by rolling a D3. Place the card into the appropriate envelope for that alliance without revealing its content.

The search envelopes now contain clues to and the precise location of each alliance's objective, randomly sprinkled across the continents. Executed carefully, even the organizer(s) won't know where the targets will be found and may participate as players in the campaign without compromise.

CAMPAIGN MECHANICS

At the end of the three missions, Order and Discord have achieved their campaign objective if they have discovered the precise location of their target and hold the continent it is on. The Spoilers achieve their campaign objective if they know the precise location of either The Scythe or the Magos and hold that continent. Note that the precise location might be discovered on a different continent from the target's actual location. This reflects the worldwide search through ruined libraries, hacked databanks, and captured individuals eventually yielding the location, which must then be secured. If a precise location is found after the final round and the alliance has control of that continent, they still achieve their campaign objective.

To the death!

Following each round, Order and Discord draw and secretly keep a search result from their respective envelopes for each continent they control. For each continent the Spoilers control they draw a search result from the respective envelopes of both Order and Discord, secretly record what they found, and put the card back in its envelope.

Control of a continent is defined as the leader of the accumulated sums for each alliance of victory points earned in matches held on that continent. In event of a tie, each of the tied alliances are considered to have control. If the Spoilers are among those tied, they draw and return their results before the other alliances pull from their envelopes.

ROUND PAIRINGS

For each match, players are paired with an opponent from another alliance as best as possible given the number of players. Teammates should only battle if no other set of pairings is possible. In that rare case, their alliance earns the lesser of the two players' victory points. The players though each claim their respective victory points toward the individual rankings.

First round pairings are randomly assigned across the alliances, optionally applying a seeding to bias toward matching players of similar ability. Starting with the Legions of Discord, then the Forces of Order, and then the Spoilers, the alliances alternate choosing a pairing and assigning it to a continent. The opposing alliance then picks a table for that match.

In the second and third rounds, pairings are assigned randomly across the alliances within win/loss brackets as best as possible. No two players may fight more than once, and opponents must be randomly selected from within the closest possible win/loss brackets permitting that, alternating shifts up and then down the brackets until a match is possible. Proceeding in order by the alliances' total campaign-wide victory points and descending down the win/loss brackets, the alliances alternate choosing a pairing and assigning it to a continent. The opposing alliance then responds with a table for that match.

VICTORY!

At the conclusion of The Debacle, an alliance has won a strategic victory if it achieved its campaign objective and no other alliance did as well. The alliance with the greatest sum total victory points has won the tactical victory for the campaign. Celebrate the victors, but prepare for the battles still ahead!

ORDER (1)

PRECISE LOCATION:
APOLLON,
FORGE PRIME.

The Magos is bunkered deep in the bowels of Caldor IV's largest and oldest forge with his bodyguards.

ORDER (2)

PRECISE LOCATION:
APOLLON,
NORTH STARPORT.

Mechanicum forces are fighting to sustain a desperate holdout at the complex in hopes of evacuation.

ORDER (3)

PRECISE LOCATION:
HERMEA,
HIVE BAHLS.

Credible reports cite him cowering among the squalor and innumerable civilians of the lower hab blocks.

ORDER (4)

PRECISE LOCATION:
JUNO,
THE SCAR.

The Magos is leading a frantic excavation at the bottom of one of Caldor IV's most unnatural features.

ORDER (1)

CLUE:
APOLLON.

A planetary defense company reports seeing the Magos moving through Forge Praxus.

ORDER (2)

CLUE:
APOLLON.

A small group of Skitarii, bodyguards of the Magos, were seen fighting on the outskirts of the North Starport.

ORDER (3)

CLUE:
HERMEA.

Shuttle pilots report delivering the Magos' entourage to the continent at the onset of the recent fighting.

ORDER (4)

CLUE:
JUNO.

A badly corrupted distress signal was received from one of the Magos' closest proteges.

ORDER (1)

CLUE:
APOLLON.

Techmarines report the Magos recently logged into the noosphere from a terminal in Forge Maurus.

ORDER (2)

CLUE:
APOLLON.

Reports indicate the Magos had ordered an orbital lifter prepared but it was damaged by ground fighting.

ORDER (3)

CLUE:
HERMEA.

Official records indicate the Magos had scheduled an oversight meeting with one of the hive regents.

ORDER (4)

CLUE:
JUNO.

The expedition's future dimming, of late the Magos had been obsessed with several sites in the wasteland.

ORDER

NO RESULT.

The Magos' personal logs are recovered but are woefully outdated and yield no hint of his location.

ORDER

NO RESULT.

Contact is made with a servant of the Magos but the line breaks before they can exchange any information.

ORDER

NO RESULT.

None of the senior adepts still alive and reachable have seen or heard from the Magos in quite some time.

TRASH

THROW THIS PLACEHOLDER CARD AWAY, IT IS NOT USED IN THE CAMPAIGN.

Thought for the day: Sacrifice is the strongest sign of devotion.

DISCORD (1)

PRECISE LOCATION:
JUNO,
.

DISCORD (2)

PRECISE LOCATION:
JUNO,
THE SCAR.

DISCORD (3)

PRECISE LOCATION:
HERMEA,
HIVE PARGNOSIS.

The mighty war engine slumbers deep in the lowest sub-foundation, quietly powering the entire hive.

DISCORD (4)

PRECISE LOCATION:
APOLLON,
FORGE PRIME.

The Scythe has lain unrecognized in the Mechanicum's vaults for decades, a colossal failure of imagination.

DISCORD (1)

CLUE:
JUNO.

DISCORD (2)

CLUE:
JUNO.

Analysis of radiation patterns from metals unburied across the continent point toward a spectacular crash site.

DISCORD (3)

CLUE:
HERMEA.

A beautiful tapestry allegorizes The Scythe shielding HerMEA's houses from staggering attacks.

DISCORD (4)

CLUE:
APOLLON.

A faded manifest for sub-annex 42A of the original expedition complex lists wonders beyond belief.

DISCORD (1)

CLUE:
JUNO.

DISCORD (2)

CLUE:
JUNO.

Something had to have torn those gouges out of the planet.

DISCORD (3)

CLUE:
HERMEA.

Early texts chart the lineage of the population centers back to the survivors of the founding houses.

DISCORD (4)

CLUE:
APOLLON.

An empty docking interface for The Scythe is found, with Mechanicum extraction equipment nearby.

DISCORD

NO RESULT.

The long sought-for vault's contents begin crumbling immediately upon exposure to atmosphere.

DISCORD

NO RESULT.

The ancient integrated librarian has only false beliefs and nonsense to share before you end his pain.

DISCORD

NO RESULT.

Your servants are imbeciles, fit for little more than scrap meat.

TRASH

THROW THIS PLACEHOLDER CARD AWAY, IT IS NOT USED IN THE CAMPAIGN.

*Thought for the day:
Sacrifice is best done by others.*

THE DEBACLE: MISSION PACK

ARMY CONSTRUCTION

Armies must be selected to at most 1500 points. All up to date sources<sup>1</sup> are permitted. No requirements or constraints are placed on detachments or force organizations. Forge World units and armies eligible for standard Warhammer 40,000 are permitted.

Models need not be painted, but objective painting scores will be applied to reward finished armies.

Models must be WYSIWYG, but identifiable and thoughtful conversions are welcome. Contact the tournament organizer(s) beforehand about any uncertain models. "Counts-as" proxies and undistinguishable or confusing stand-ins are not permitted.

SUPPORTING MATERIALS

You must have an official, legal, complete physical or digital copy on hand for all army, unit, and other sources you are using. You should bring printed copies of relevant pages of any electronic sources. Don't forget errata and FAQs for your sources.<sup>2</sup>

You must bring any dice, templates, and markers you need to facilitate playing your army, as well as five typed copies of your army roster with points listed.

STARTUP SEQUENCE

Each mission will use the following setup process:

- Clarify terrain and exchange lists
- Determine warlord traits, then psychic powers, and then other pre-game effects and choices
- D6 roll off to select deployment zones
- Place primary objective markers
- D6 roll off to choose first or second deployment
- Deploy main armies in that order
- Deploy any Infiltrators (pg. 167)
- Secretly choose and record secondary objectives from the options listed for the mission
- Make any Scout redeployments (pg. 171)
- Reveal secondary objectives
- First to deploy chooses to play first or second
- Seize the Initiative roll, if desired

MISSION RULES

The following special rules will be applied to each mission, in addition to any given by the mission definition or otherwise specified, e.g., for a particular table.

Easy Recon. Players add +1 to their roll to choose first or second deployment for each superheavy vehicle or gargantuan creature in the opposing army.

Reserves. As defined on page 135 of the main Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Seize the Initiative. As defined on page 132 of the main Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

Variable Game Length. As defined on page 133 of the main Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

All In. Units/models in reserve at game end count as completely destroyed/removed as a casualty.

SCORING

Match results are determined by scoring primary, secondary, and tertiary objectives as given for each mission. Any unit or faction specific rules granting victory points to a player's opponent also apply.

The winner of a match is the player with the most victory points. Ties are broken in favor of the player with the most army points on the table at game end, including embarked units and claimed fortifications.

Tournament standings are determined first by win/loss records and then the sum total victory points achieved across all three missions. No more than 20 victory points may be earned per mission toward these standings, though any additional victory points won do count toward determining the match winner.

THE DEMANDS OF THIRSTY GODS

Carragon stood for a moment after the voice in his head faded away. Even by the standards of his pirate band this last request was excessive, unnecessary. But the rewards...

<sup>1</sup>Partial list maintained by Redcap's Corner and PAGE: <http://bit.ly/1uWkFHz>

<sup>2</sup>Available from The Black Library: <http://www.blacklibrary.com/faqs-and-errata.html>

MISSION 1: CONTACT

Armies collide as the vanguards of opposing sides make contact in the burgeoning planetary war.

TABLE SETUP

Deployment zones are Vanguard Strike, as defined on page 131 of the main Warhammer 40,000 rulebook. Vanguard Strike may be approximated by deploying within a 33.5" x 50" table corner triangle. The player that wins the zone roll off may pick any of the four corners, and the other player takes that diagonally opposite.

After determining deployment zones, place one primary objective marker at the center of the table and one at each of the two table quadrant centers outside the deployment zones, i.e., 18" from the short table edge and 12" from the long table edge in the corners opposite the deployment zones. There are thus three primary objective markers along the diagonal dividing the no man's land between the two deployment zones.

MISSION SPECIFIC RULES

The following mission specific rules apply, in addition to those applied to all missions in this pack.

Nightfighting. All units have Stealth on Turn 1.

SCORING

This mission is scored by objectives achieved, as follows.

Primary Objectives. At the conclusion of the game, players score 3 victory points for each primary objective marker they control, as defined by the standard rules (page 134 of the main rulebook).

Secondary Objectives. After deployment, both players simultaneously choose and then reveal a single secondary objective for themselves from the list below. Any necessary selections are chosen and then revealed with the objective unless noted otherwise. No more than 6 victory points may be earned via any secondary.

- Seek and Destroy. Choose and declare a Battlefield Role other than Troop. Score 2 victory points for each enemy unit of this role completely destroyed or falling back at the end of the game.
- Victory Through Attrition. Score 1 victory point for each unsaved hull point or wound taken from any opposing superheavy vehicle or gargantuan creature by any means, including explosions and other indirect effects. These points are earned at the end of any phase in which such damage occurs, and thus include any repaired or regenerated later.
- Seize Ground. Choose two terrain pieces not in your deployment zone. Do not declare these now, but do secretly record your selection unambiguously! Reveal these at game end and score 3 victory points for each piece that you control, treating them as objective markers. Note that this means a single unit cannot claim both a primary objective marker and a terrain piece simultaneously.
- Reconnaissance. At the end of the game, score 2 victory points for each friendly scoring unit with the Scout or Infiltrate USR completely within 12" of your opponent's table edge.

Tertiary Objectives. Both players apply all of the following tertiary objectives:

- Slay the Warlord. If the opposing army has a Lord of War character or a Warlord of any type and either has been removed as a casualty or is falling back at the end of the game, score 2 victory points.
- Linebreaker. Score 2 victory points if a model from any friendly scoring unit is completely within 12" of your opponent's table edge.
- First Blood. As defined on page 133 of the main Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

MISSION 2: GROUND AT ANY COST

---

Warriors lock into combat as they desperately fight to carve out space for their army on the battlefield.

TABLE SETUP

Deployment zones are Dawn of War, as on page 131 of the Warhammer 40,000 rulebook (12" long edges).

After determining deployment zones, six primary objective markers are put down. Each player receives three markers which they alternate placing, beginning with the winner of a D6 roll off, in the following order:

- Your first marker is worth 3 victory points and must be placed in either deployment zone.
- Your second marker is worth 2 victory points and must be placed in the opposite zone from your first.
- Your third marker must be placed on the table centerline, i.e., anywhere 24" from both long edges.

All other placement rules apply as given on page 134 of the main Warhammer 40,000 rulebook. After placement, randomly select one of the two centerline markers to be worth 4 victory points. The other centerline marker is worth 1 victory point. Make sure to unambiguously record the value of all markers.

MISSION SPECIFIC RULES

There are no mission specific rules for this mission.

SCORING

This mission is scored by objectives achieved, as follows.

Primary Objectives. At the conclusion of the game, for each primary objective marker a player controls they score the number of victory points it is worth as determined during table setup.

Secondary Objectives. There are no secondary objectives for this mission.

Tertiary Objectives. Both players apply all of the following tertiary objectives:

- Slay the Warlord. If the opposing army has a Lord of War character or a Warlord of any type and either has been removed as a casualty or is falling back at the end of the game, score 2 victory points.
- Linebreaker. Score 2 victory points if a model from any friendly scoring unit is completely within 12" of your opponent's table edge.
- First Blood. As defined on page 133 of the main Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

MISSION 3: THE FINAL GRIND

---

Tired, near breaking, armies make desperate gambles in the waning throes of conquest or defeat.

TABLE SETUP

Deployment zones are Hammer and Anvil, as defined on page 131 of the main rulebook (24" short edges).

In each of the four table corners place a primary objective marker 12" from both of the table edges of that corner. Place a fifth primary objective marker at the center of the table.

MISSION SPECIFIC RULES

The following mission specific rules apply, in addition to those applied to all missions in this pack.

The Longest Day. After Turn 4 roll a D6; on a 4+ all units have Stealth for the remainder of the game. Do this again after Turn 5 if it did not take effect. This rule automatically takes effect after Turn 6.

SCORING

This mission is scored by objectives achieved, as follows.

Primary Objectives. At the conclusion of the game, players score 2 victory points for each primary objective marker they control in a table corner, and 1 victory point for controlling the marker at table center.

Secondary Objectives. After deployment, both players simultaneously choose and then reveal a single secondary objective for themselves from the list below. Any necessary selections are chosen and then revealed with the objective unless noted otherwise. No more than 6 victory points may be earned via any secondary.

- Seek and Destroy. Choose and declare a Battlefield Role other than Troop. Score 2 victory points for each enemy unit of this role completely destroyed or falling back at the end of the game.
- Victory Through Attrition. Score 1 victory point for each unsaved hull point or wound taken from any opposing superheavy vehicle or gargantuan creature by any means, including explosions and other indirect effects. These points are earned at the end of any phase in which such damage occurs, and thus include any repaired or regenerated later.
- Meatgrinder. Score 1 victory point for each opposing Troop unit completely destroyed or falling back at the end of the game.
- Assassination. Score 1 victory point for each opposing character model removed as a casualty or falling back at the end of the game. Note that this is not limited to just independent characters.

Tertiary Objectives. Both players apply all of the following tertiary objectives:

- Slay the Warlord. If the opposing army has a Lord of War character or a Warlord of any type and either has been removed as a casualty or is falling back at the end of the game, score 2 victory points.
- Linebreaker. Score 2 victory points if a model from any friendly scoring unit is completely within 12" of your opponent's table edge.
- First Blood. As defined on page 133 of the main Warhammer 40,000 rulebook.

THE TWILIGHT OF CALDOR IV

The Twilight of Caldor IV is played as four rounds of Recon Squad skirmishes between 200 point armies. Full rules for Recon Squad are available here: rocketshipgames.com/games/recon-squad/

Mission	Explorators	Harriers	Quarter-masters	Rampagers	Sentinels	Penetrators	Survivors	Warriors
Artifact	Either		Either
Assassination		Attacker					Defender
Battlefield				Either				Either
Breakthrough					Defender	Attacker
Depot		Either	Either
Encirclement				Attacker			Defender
Ground	Either							Either
Installation					Defender	Attacker

Campaign track mission victory requirement pairs.

SCRAMBLE

At the start of the event, each player is grouped into an alliance. Each player then selects a legacy.

If multiple players within an alliance have units controlling a single objective then they are each considered to hold it for individual scoring purposes.

Explorators

Missions Excavation (Defender): Protect supplies and archeotech Skirmish (Either): Fight it out

Cataclysm

You succeed if there are no enemy units in your deployment zone at the end of the game

Mission Achieved:

Your faction

RATORS

Name: _____
Squad: _____
Faction: _____

Priceless relics and archeotech litter the field of war, glittering in the wasteland.

You must secure the

Mission	Role	Victory	Defeat
Excavation	Defender	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
Skirmish	Attacker	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
_____	_____	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
_____	_____	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

Cataclysm Goal:

After deployment, select a primary objective marker not in any deployment zone. Your legacy is secured if you hold

Mushi

Name: _____
Squad: _____
Faction: _____

Nonsensee

Sentinels

Missions: Installation (Defender): Protect a critical installation. Breakthrough (Defender): Hold the line

Cataclysm: Select one of the objectives in your deployment zone. You succeed if your units control that objective at the end of the Cataclysm.

Missions Achieved: You may bolster a piece of terrain or a fortification in your deployment zone, improving its cover by 1. No piece may be bolstered more than once.

Penetrators Installation (Attacker): Destroy a critical installation. Breakthrough (Attacker): Crash the gates

Cataclysm: Select an objective in an opposing deployment zone. You succeed if your units control it at the end of the Cataclysm.

Mission Achieved: You may ruin a piece of terrain or a fortification in an opposing deployment zone, reducing its cover by 1. No piece may be ruined more than once.

Headhunters

Missions: Assassination (Attacker): Eliminate the opposing NPC Ambush (Attacker): Intercept a unit moving through the area.

Cataclysm: After deployment nominate one of the opposing warmasters. You succeed if that warmaster is removed as a casualty.

Missions Achieved: The nominated warlord loses a wound before the start of the game.

Commanders

Missions: Assassination (Defender): Protect the opposing NPC Ambush (Defender): Safely move through an area

Cataclysm: You succeed if your alliance's warmaster has not been removed as a casualty by the end of the game.

Missions Achieved: The warmaster gains a wound before the start of the game.

Scouts

Missions: Excavation (Attacker): Steal supplies or information Skirmish (Either): Fight it out

Cataclysm:

Missions Achieved: Your entire army may Outflank or Infiltrate.

Rampagers

Missions Battlefield (Either): Kill Encirclement (Attacker): Kill

You succeed if at least 25% of your units have not been eliminated, and all of your units (excluding fortifications) end the game in an opposing deployment zone.

Mission Achieved: Your army can field an additional 30 points.

Warriors

Missions Battlefield (Either): Kill Encirclement (Defender): Survive

Cataclysm You succeed if there are no enemy units in your deployment zone at the end of the game.

Mission Achieved: Your army gains Feel No Pain (6+)

The enemy alliance's deployment bid counts as being 5 minutes longer for purposes of determining turn order but not deployment time.

Your alliance's deployment bid counts as being 5 minutes shorter for purposes of determining order but not available deployment time.

CATACLYSM

The primary objective markers are pieces of The Scythe of Unbound Light.

Some your forces have already been able to document or otherwise aren't as valuable. Some have been outright destroyed and are only minimally useful. Some are believed to be extremely valuable, yielding great knowledge even in their fragmented form.